MIV—Birmingham's New River

BY FRÉDÉRIC J. HASKIN

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., March 27.—By building seventeen locks and dams across the Black Warrior river, Uncle Sam has practically presented the people of this city with a fine navigable river. The work cost the government $17,000,000 and required twelve years to finish, and the Birmingham people are deeply appreciative of the boon that the nation as a whole has conferred upon them.

Have Big Plans

"The Black Warrior River, and What We Are Going to Do With It," would make a good headline for most of the news in Birmingham right now. The city is going to extend its limits to the banks of the river. It is already shipping coal to Mobile by boat and it expects to bring back ores and fertilizers. The wholesalers see a new chance to reach seaward, and to force lower rates out of the railroads. The iron and steel makers assert that they will now supply Texas with nails and wire, and reach the Cuban market in a single shipment from their own home terminals. In a word, the possibilities seem almost unlimited and the city is making good progress toward their realization.

The Black Warrior project is one of the most striking engineering feats that the government has ever accomplished. Lock seventeen, the recent completion of which brought navigable water within twelve miles of Birmingham, a mountain city, is said to be the highest lock in the world, for it holds back a head of water 63 feet deep.

Navigable Only Half Way

Since very early times, the Black Warrior has been a navigable stream below Demopolis, a little city half way to the sea; and as long ago as 1856, steamers came up to Tuscaloosa during high water. But that did not do Birmingham much good. The city is only twelve miles from the river; but at that point it was only a big mountain stream a couple of hundreds yards wide, full of riffles and shoals, and often so low in summer that a man could wade across it.

Now that same stream has been converted by modern engineering into a river half a mile wide on an average, thirty to fifty feet deep in many places, and navigable for large barges all the way to the sea. The narrow mountain creeks that once came tumbling into the Black Warrior have been converted into deep, navigable bays reaching back into the heart of the mountains where the iron and coal are mined. Incidentally, Birmingham now has one of the most attractive waterways in the South for pleasure-boating. Running between steep wooded mountains, and reaching its arms far up among them, the Black Warrior is a beautiful stretch of cruising water, and to add to the delight of sportsmen, both fish and wild ducks have appeared in great numbers.

Bring City and River Together

Just at present, however, Birmingham is primarily concerned with ways and means of utilizing this waterway, which is one of the few in the world that actually reaches from the mountains to the sea, and one of the few in the United States that maintains

HOUSE ADOPTS LITERARY TEST-WILSON MAY VETO

WASHINGTON, March 27.—By a vote of 225 to 82, the house today voted to retain in the Burnett immigration bill the clause that is expected to result in the president vetoing it—a requirement that all immigrants must be able to read and write in their own language. The vote was taken in committee of the whole on a motion by Representative Sabath of Illinois to strike out the clause. By rising vote the motion was defeated 209 to 74 and on tellers' count by the even larger vote.

Miracles Follow
Touching Tale Of
The Empty Sleeve

The sad tale of the empty sleeve was repeated in a new version at the La Crosse hotel last night, when George Thompson took up a silver collection after exhibiting his vacant right sleeve and passing about cards explaining that he was deaf and dumb. The traveling men in the lobby were touched—very much touched. But they called the police a little later when one of them reported that Thompson's right arm had been miraculously restored for the purpose of raising a glass of cheering red-eye in a neighboring saloon. A second miracle eventuated when a patrolman laid hands on Thompson. Protesting speech crowded upon his supposedly mute tongue. He was to be "vagged" in county court this afternoon.

Verdun Sector Scene of Heavy Big Gun Battles with Fire Particularly Violent at Douaumont

BERLIN, March 27.—Repulse of further heavy Russian attacks west of Jacobstadt and near Postaway, with enormous losses for the Slavs, was reported by the war office this afternoon. Only artillery engagements have occurred around Verdun.

German aviators bombarded the railway stations at Divinsk and Vilevki, through which the Russians have been drawing supplies for the present offensive.

The principal activity on the western front occurred near St. Eloi. The British destroyed 100 yards of German trenches on this sector.

In the region of Mokrzyce, Prussian troops recaptured the positions lost by the Germans March 20, taking 2,160 prisoners.

Bombardment Continues
PARIS, March 27.—The Germans continued to bombard the French front on the Verdun sector last night but there were no infantry actions, the war office reported this afternoon.

The cannonade was violent on the Douaumont-Vaux front of the Meuse and also around Moulinville and Chatillon.

Mine fighting on the Daughter of Death hill in the Argonne resulted to the advantage of the French. Grenade fighting occurred on the Courte Chausse sector.

MRS. ELVIN LARSON
DIES IN 'SPARTA'

Mrs. Ethel Eva Larson, wife of Elvin Larson, 1228 South Sixteenth street, died at St. Mary's hospital at Sparta, Saturday night, of appendicitis. She was twenty-three years old, a native of Merrillan, Wis. She leaves her husband and child of two and one-half years, her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Gaylord, and three sisters, Mrs. Jessie Gaylord, Mrs. Charles Gaymon, and Miss Pearl Gaylord, all of Rockland. Funeral services will be held at Rockland on Tuesday at 2 p. m. from the house and at 2:30 from the church. She was a member of La Crosse Home-Steved Brotherhood American Yeomen and had a large circle of friends in La Crosse and Rockland who were shocked to learn of her sudden death.

St. Paul Physician Comes to Take Remains of Wells and Union Officer Claims Gunther Body

DEATH ENDED VAIN JOB HUNT

Cheerful Letter to Gunther's Sweetheart Tells of His Wanderings Hunting Work

Friends and relatives today claimed the bodies of William J. Gunther and C. D. Wells, railroaders whose bodies were found frozen in the ice-bunker of a refrigerator car at the Gund's brewery Saturday afternoon. Dr. C. P. Foote of St. Paul, arrived today to claim the body of Wells, who is his brother-in-law, and was to take the body to St. Paul this afternoon. The secretary of the Arkansas City lodge of the locomotive firemen's brotherhood is on his way to La Crosse to take the body of Gunther back to his home.

Overlooked at Superior
That the two men's bodies were lying in the ice-bunker when the car was unloaded at Superior was believed by the authorities today. The car, Burlington refrigerator No. 37200, was loaded in La Crosse on March 7, and started for Superior the same day, via St. Paul. A letter in Gunther's pocket, addressed to his sweetheart in Arkansas City, Kas., was dated March 7, in St. Paul. It was written on stationery of the West End Commercial Hotel in St. Paul. This was believed proof that the two men entered the car on March 8, when it was in the Minnesota Transfer yards.

On Search for Jobs
The letter found upon Gunther, and his companion's union card bearing the word "unemployed" were silent evidences of the circumstances preceding their tragic deaths. Neither man at all resembled a "bum."

LONDON, March 27.—British seaplanes accompanied by giant cruisers and destroyers, on Saturday engaged in a combined air and naval battle with the Germans off the island of Sylt.

Two German patrol vessels were sunk. The British destroyer Medusa was in collision with the destroyer Laverock and is missing. Three of the British seaplanes are missing. Berlin reports they were brought down and their occupants made prisoners.

The target of the raid was the German aerial base at Tondern in Schleswig-Holstein, east of Sylt. Danish press reports, the admiralty announces, indicate the raid achieved its object.

BREWERY WORKERS
SIGN AGREEMENT
AFTER COMPROMISE

Three-year Contract Is Entered Into Giving Men $1.50 Weekly Advance in Pay

COMES AFTER NINE MEETINGS

Series of Secret Conferences Held Following Presentation of Men's Demands Thursday

Three-year contracts calling for an increase in wages of $1.50 a week were signed by representatives of the La Crosse Bottlers' and Brewers' unions and Henry Gund, representative of the La Crosse Brewers' association, at a final conference of brewery workers and employers at the Stoddard hotel Saturday night.

The agreement was reached after nine conferences between the employers and employees covering a period of five days, and represents a compromise. The brewery workers held out until Saturday night for a wage increase of $3 per week. They finally accepted a 50 per cent reduction and the contracts were signed. They will take effect April 1, and will hold good until April 1, 1919.

Three Brewers Attend

Three local brewers were present at the Stoddard hotel meeting. They were Henry Gund, of the Gund Brewing company; Joseph Bartl, of the Franz Bartl Brewing company, and John Erickson of the Erickson brewing company. The "bottlers" and brewerymen's unions were represented by August Bey, president, Joseph Ralsh, secretary, Albert Pust, and Jacob Shlimshak, of the brewery workers union No. 81, and William Mitchell, president; Lawrence Seiborski, secretary, Frank Mashek, and Frank Minnie, of the local bottlers' union No. 247.

Gund Signs For Brewers

Mr. Gund acted as chairman for the brewers' association, signing the contracts with Bey and Mitchell. The men were guided in the conferences by George Moffitt, New York city, representative of the International Brewery Workers' association, and Charles Nickolous, Milwaukee, representative of the American Union of Brewery Workers.

Advances in the cost of living, on one hand, and the "war tax" on the other, are said to have been the factors that delayed the final settlement. A strike was not in prospect at any time during the negotiations, the union leaders said today, although the men had decided to go out, at the expiration of their contract on April 1 if a settlement had not been made.

Make Demands Thursday

The brewery workers presented their demands to their employers last Tuesday morning. The first meeting occurred within a few hours the same day. Another meeting took place Tuesday afternoon.

The third meeting took place Wednesday morning. Another meeting was held the same day. Two meetings were held Thursday, and one the following day.

Brewery workers were receiving wages of from $16 to $18 per week. They will now get from $17.50 to $19.50. Bottlers were receiving wages of from $11 to $15 per week. The increase gives them from $12.50 to $16.50 per week.

Funston Says Bandits Escaped Encircling Movement Through Carranzistas at Namiquipa

COLUMBUS, N. M., March 27.—More than 3,000 additional United States troops are now at the border preparing to enter Mexico today.

Military officials at the base camp here reiterated their belief that the Villistas would not be exterminated without a long, hard campaign. They said there was no reason to believe that Villa was surrounded by American or Carranzista troops at present.

Preparations bearing out their predictions were seen in the arrival of huge quantities of supplies of all kinds in the past twenty-four hours. Hundreds of cavalry horses are arriving to replace the mounts already worn out in only twelve days' campaigning.

Encounter Snipers

Many drivers of incoming wagon trains today reported encountering Mexican snipers along the Casas Grandes-Columbus road. No Americans were hit.

Villa Again Escapes

SAN ANTONIO, Texas, March 27.—Latest reports to General Funston indicated today that Pancho Villa, the "fox of the Sierras," has eluded the attempted encircling movement of the American and Carranzista troops and is now advancing rapidly through the Madera valley.

Villa's escape from the trap set for him at Namiquipa was through the Carranzistas, not American forces, Major General Funston declared today.

Funston heatedly denied that the bandit's escape was through an American detachment which had used the Mexico Northwestern road to get behind him. Villa, he said, fled from the Lake Bazarcoza region, through the Madera valley, where the Carranzista troops have paralleled the American line of communication.

The American line, already described by Funston as pitifully weak, is fast becoming a menace, it was said today. Any one of many possibilities

HEADQUARTERS OF FRENCH ARMIES AROUND VERDUN, March 27.—Thrice baffled in their efforts to enter Verdun, the Germans are now seemingly bent on destruction of the city.

Daily they hurl incendiary shells of large calibre into business and residential districts. In these sections I saw several large fires raging simultaneously. (The German official statement Saturday reported Verdun in flames.)

From the military viewpoint Verdun is untouched. Otherwise the city seems destined to become another Rheims, Arras, or Ypres, threatening the utter destruction of its beautiful cathedral, bishop's palace and other buildings of note. About 350 big shells fall upon Verdun daily.

Our party arrived in Verdun in the morning. At coffee time, when there was a lull, we asked the gen-

French Marine Ministry Statement States Positively the Channel Boat Was Torpedoed

DOVER, England, March 27.—That the channel boat Sussex was "struck by an enemy torpedo" was the finding of a coroner's jury tonight at an inquest over the bodies of victims brought here.

LONDON, March 27.—Three vessels, two British and one French have been sunk within the last twenty-four hours, with the probable loss of many lives.

They are the French steamer Hebe, the British steamer Cerne and the British fish carrier Khartoum. All aboard the Cerne are known to have been saved and it is believed the Hebe crew was rescued. Nine of the Khartoum's crew are missing and probably drowned.

The Hebe displaced 1,494 tons and was owned at Caen, France. The Khartoum was a 303 ton trawler owned at Hull. Shipping registers do not list the Cerne.

Eleven Die in Mediterranean

LONDON, March 27.—Eleven persons were killed in the sinking of the British liner Minneapolis by a submarine in the Mediterranean last Wednesday. All others aboard the liner were saved.

The British steamer Leicestershire, at Marseilles, reported a wireless call for help from the liner last Wednesday, but arrived too late to be of any help, the Minneapolis having already gone down.

Was a Transport

The Minneapolis was a 13,543 ton liner, one of the largest merchant vessels sunk by a submarine. She was employed by the British government for use in transport and freight service at the outbreak of the war and presumably was carrying troops or supplies to Salonika when she was attacked.

All Americans Safe

BY CHARLES P. STEWART
(United Press Staff Correspondent.)

LONDON, March 27.—All Americans aboard the Sussex have been saved and accounted for, a statement issued by the American embassy today declared.

Twelve Bodies Recovered

Twelve bodies of passengers and members of the crew have been recovered. About seventy others are missing.

The admiralty has not yet issued a formal statement giving its opinion of the source of the explosion, though an official statement from the French ministry of marine states positively that the Sussex was torpedoed. The majority of the survivors arriving at Paris are positive that the Sussex was a submarine victim.

Opinion among the survivors reaching Dover was about equally divided between the submarine and mine theory.

One report from Paris was that a sailing vessel, presumably captured by submarines, was used as a screen to the submarine's movements. The sailing vessel, several passengers asserted, drew away without going to the Sussex's assistance after she was struck.

The owners of the Sussex have not yet received a report from Captain Mouffett, who is said to have been seriously injured by a falling mast.

Several Americans were seriously injured, the American embassy announced this afternoon.

Miss Calliope Rennell of New York, who was reported missing, has been located in Paris. The embassy has confirmed press reports that Professor J. M. Baldwin, Mrs. Baldwin and their daughter, Elizabeth, are at a hotel at Wilmeroux, near Boulogne.

Status of Negotiations with Berlin Would Make Action Only Possible Move

WASHINGTON, March 27.—Diplomatic relations with Germany probably will be broken off if the United States government finds a German submarine was responsible for the attack on the channel steamer Sussex, according to a high administration official today.

It has been known for some weeks that the president was in possession of information from unquestionable sources that should this government sever diplomatic relations with Germany, the Kaiser might declare war on the United States.

President Wilson is "awaiting the facts," it was stated at the white house. He has urged that all haste be employed by the state department in getting the official report of the attack on the Sussex to this country.

Even if the latest statements that all Americans were saved are finally borne out it will not alter the gravity of the situation inasmuch as the United States holds that no nation has the right in international or humane law to kill or endanger Americans through unwarned submarine attack.

The president held a long conference with Secretary of State Lansing over the telephone, and it is stated that the official reports thus far received indicate clearly that although they do not prove positively, that the Sussex was struck by a submarine torpedo.

A piece of bronze metal similar to that used in German torpedoes has been found in the Sussex wreckage, a report made by a French officer to the American consul at Boulogne and forwarded to the state department declares. It is further known that German submarines had been operating in that vicinity.

It is positively stated that no inquiry probably will be made to Germany, in the event that a German submarine is found responsible. This would be unnecessary, it is stated because, in view of the status of negotiations between this country and Germany on the U boat issue, the position of the United States has been set forth clearly and nothing but action by this government could remain.

This action, or any action, however, will wait upon replies to the general request already made for further information. The administration will be positive as to the circumstances of the sinking before it takes a step.

In all circles the situation today is regarded as extremely grave. Chairman Stone of the senate foreign relations committee, called on the president to get reports of the latest developments in the case.

"The first report," Stone said, "is always the worst report. We are still hoping that the danger will be cleared."

NOTICE OF ELECTION—OF JUDICIAL AND NATIONAL DELEGATE ELECTION.

To the Elector of La Crosse County:
Notice is hereby given that a Judicial and National Delegate election is to be held in the several towns, wards, villages, and election precincts in the county of La Crosse, on the 4th day of April, 1916, at which the officers named below are to be chosen. The names of the candidates for each office to be voted for, whose nominations have been certified to or filed in this office, are given under the title of the office and under the appropriate party or other designation, each in its proper column, together with the question submitted to a vote, in the sample ballot below.

INFORMATION TO VOTERS

The following instructions are given for the information and guidance of voters:
(a) A voter upon entering the polling place and giving his name and residence, will receive a ballot from the ballot clerk which must have indorsed thereon the names or initials of both ballot clerks, and no other ballot can be used. Upon receiving his ballot, the voter must retire alone to a booth or compartment and prepare the same for voting. A ballot clerk may inform the voter as to the proper manner of marking a ballot, but he must not advise or indicate in any manner whom to vote for.
(b) The ballot should not be marked in any other manner. If the ballot be spoiled, it must be returned to the ballot clerk, who must issue another in its stead, but not more than three in all shall be issued to any one voter. Five minutes' time is allowed in booth to mark ballot. Unofficial ballots or memorandum to assist the voter in marking his ballot can be taken into the booth, and may be used to copy from. The ballot must not be shown so that any person can see how it has been marked by the voter.
(c) After it is marked it should be folded so that the inside cannot be seen, but so that the printed indorsements and signatures of the ballot clerks on the outside may be seen. Then the voter should pass out of the booth or compartment, give his name to the inspector in charge of the ballot box, hand him his ballot to be placed in the box, and pass out of the voting place.

(d) A voter, who declares to the presiding officer that he is unable to read, or that by reason of physical disability he is unable to mark his ballot, can have assistance of one or two election officers in marking same to be chosen by the voter; and if he declares that he is totally blind, he may be assisted by any person chosen by him from among the legal voters of the county. The presiding officer may administer an oath in his discretion, as to such person's disability.
ABSENT VOTING:
(e) Any duly qualified registered elector of any town, village or ward, who through the nature of his business, expects to be absent from his county on the Judicial and National Delegate Election day, may, not more than fifteen nor less than three days prior to date of said election, make application to the County Clerk for the official ballots to be voted at said election. Upon the execution and filing of said application the County Clerk shall, not more than ten nor less than three days prior to said election mail the official ballot to the applicant, postage prepaid.
The absent voter shall upon receipt of the ballots go before an officer authorized by law to administer oaths, and in the presence of said officer and of no other person, mark and fold the ballots separately in such manner as to conceal any of the markings and deposit the voted ballot together with any unused portion thereof into an addressed envelope furnished by the County Clerk and securely seal. Said envelope shall be mailed by said voters, by registered mail, postage prepaid, to the County Clerk.
For any town, village or city election the voter must apply to the clerk of such town, village or city for his ballot or ballots. Said voter must comply with the same statutes as above described.
(f) The following is a facsimile of the office ballot:

LADIES IN SWARMS
FRIENDS OF WAITES
ONE IN PARTICULAR

NEW YORK, March 25.—Not one "other woman," but many, fitted in butterfly fashion near the flame of New York's gay night life with Dr. Arthur Warren Waite, gay spend-thrift who schemed deliberately and craftily planned to poison the millionaire father of his six months bride that he might inherit the money to gratify his tastes and passions.
The pages of a diary found by the police were enlivened by Waite's picturesque comments on several inamoratas. He recorded names and dates and addresses. The police were searching this afternoon for several of these women friends with whom Waite, if his diary is to be believed, spent considerable time for a bridegroom of six months.
Twisted in with the entangled threads of the mystery is Mrs. Mary Horton. From February 22 until March 18, Dr. Waite maintained a costly apartment for her at the Plaza hotel, one of the most palatial in New York. They registered there as "Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Walters of New Rochelle."
Mrs. Horton said the Plaza apartment did not contain a bed and that Waite's baggage consisted of books. She added that she was not present when he registered.
Harley Saturday afternoon contradicted the young woman. He said he was Dr. Walters and introduced the woman as his wife and engaged a bedroom. The chambermaids said this room was never occupied at night.

PRESIDENT WOULD ISSUE STATEMENT
TO OFFSET RUMOR

BY ROBERT J. BENDER
(United Press Staff Correspondent.)
WASHINGTON, March 27.—President Wilson is seriously considering issuance of a statement to offset wild rumors regarding the Mexican situation coming from the Texas border.
The president, it was learned, may issue an appeal to the public to discredit other than official reports on the border situation. The appeal probably will be made public through Secretary Lansing.
Decision to put a stop, if possible, to what the White House feels is a systematic campaign for the circulation of false reports, was made at Friday's cabinet meeting. Official reports before the cabinet were diametrically opposed to border rumors that Carranza troops were in revolt by thousands.

RUMOR MONGERS PUT ON ANANIAS CLUB BY GENERAL PERSHING

SAN ANTONIO, March 27.
—General Funston has elected El Paso rumor mongers to the Ananias club.
"That lie factory in El Paso," stated the general, with some heat, "is working day and night shifts."
Funston referred to recent dispatches concerning the "revolt" of General Luis Herrera of Chihuahua.
"El Paso," said Funston, "deserves to rank with those celebrated centers of veracity, Shanghai and Mole St. Nicholas."

VERSE and REVERSE

Wishville
I longed to go to Wishville,
Where dearest dreams come true,
Where there is no opposition,
And not a thing to do
But to sit around enjoying
Bliss to the point of cloying—
Oh, would that be annoying?
I leave it up to you!
I've just got back from Wishville,
The land of Heart's Desire,
And I'm glad to see old Workville,
If any should inquire.
For loafing is no pleasure
And wealth, there, is no treasure;
With these in fullest measure
To what may one aspire?

INVITING DISASTER

General Funston's intimation that his need of more troops may be met by a call upon the militia of the border states suggests a step which in view of the delicate situation between the United States and Mexico may prove most unwise. The administration recognizes a persistent and perhaps organized effort to embroil the two countries in a general war, prosecuted by influences which may have been responsible for the Villa raid and which unquestionably have engaged in the treasonable enterprise of arming Mexican outlaws.

The employment of the border militia would play well into the hands of these plotters. Along the border race hatred is pronounced. All Mexicans look alike to the national guardsmen of Texas, New Mexico and Arizona, and their engagement on the border would almost certainly lead to hostilities with the de facto soldiery. One clash of this sort would precipitate a situation beyond the combined powers of General Carranza and President Wilson to control.

If militiamen are needed, prudence urges that the guardsmen of other states, far from the influence of border bitterness, be drafted.

TRAITOR'S TALK OF PATRIOTISM

We're in considerable sympathy with Senator J. "Ham" Lewis' resolution to make aid or encouragement of Villa treason, and we'd like to make it more definite and certain. How would it be to hang every manufacturer, jobber or purveyor of arms and munitions who seeks by any means to send a consignment of either into Mexico? Nothing in history is more contemptible than this traffic. Loudly shouting for "preparedness" in the sacred name of patriotism, these blood-suckers at the same moment engage in arming hostile outlaws with weapons with which to shoot American soldiers. No doubt some of these dollars will find their way into the fund of the "preparedness" propagandists.

HAIL COLUMBIA, HAPPY LAND!

In a sympathetic article on the munitions business, appearing in the current number of the Saturday Evening Post, James H. Collins describes a rifle-making plant that cost twelve million dollars to build and equip. It is one of hundreds, says Mr. Collins, that have been erected since the fall of 1914. We quote:

"Every one of these plants has been paid for by actual war orders from Europe."
"When this war is over we shall have private munitions factories comparing very well with those of Europe in extent."
"Europe gave us this munitions industry with her compliments. About the only problem connected with it now is: What will become of the munitions baby when the war is over?"

Mr. Collins suggests the answer to his own question by describing how practically all of these big munitions plants can be turned to peaceful manufacturing. Even the machinery made especially for making rifle barrels, says the Post's investigator, can be used for making sporting rifles. Other unique machines can find analogous uses.

Since the big plants have already paid for themselves, it may be questioned if any further answer is necessary. The munitions makers have made extraordinary profits out of abnormal conditions. They have an additional clear gain in their factories, paid for out of their enormous winnings.

But Mr. Collins declares the gun-men expect more. They figure that the war has so upset European confidence that there will be a great demand for armament after the war, as a precautionary measure. And also, "the munitions men anticipate a heavy demand from our own government."

There is no particular novelty in the declaration that this pudgy war-baby looks to Uncle Sam for pap. He has been crying for it with all his lusty lungs. But to reason, as Mr. Collins represents the manufacturers, that it would be "absolute folly" to let this industry "fall back into nothingness again for lack of government co-operation" is adding some ells to the considerable number of inches the war barons have already assumed.

"Absolute folly" appears rather to lie in hanging about the neck of the government the burden of further protection of investments already tremendously profitable. The insatiable "more!" of this redoubtable young Oliver Twist would be more convincing were he not so sleekly fat. Uncle Sam is due to experience a heap of inconvenience in his latest nursery.

A popular stunt-actress of the films has gone to the hospital three times in making one picture. Art in the movies is apparently not so long as it is sudden.

It may be tonsorially observed that General Carranza enjoys an advantage in that he doesn't have to wear any of the spring styles in neckties.

Quips and Cranks and Wanton Wiles

They'd Fit
Rastus (the cleaner)—Looky here, boss; I done scoured and scoured on dese pants o' yours and Ah can't git dese spots out at all.

A Tip to Husbands
Here is a tip to husbands. Next time typewrite your explanations to your wife and keep a carbon copy for later references. Then you can call strikes on her when she goes to bat—and keep her from galloping home on a wild throw.

A New Genius
"I understand that your son is a very talented musician," said the interested friend.
"Indeed he is," replied the fond mamma. "Why he can play for hours without anybody in the audience understanding a single note."—Richmond Times-Dispatch.

Opened His Eyes
An actor who recently returned from a successful season in Europe, tells a story of a very old Irishman, who one day astonished a friend by announcing that he was about to get married.
"Married!" exclaimed his friend. "An old man like you?"
"Well, you see," the old man exclaimed, "it's just because I'm getting to be an old boy now. It's a fine thing to have a wife near you to close your eyes when you have come to the end."
"Ah, don't be so foolish!" exclaimed his friend. "What do you know about it? Close your eyes, indeed! I've had a couple of them, and faith, both of them opened mine."

Very Generous
Mrs. Macbeth Simmons went to Dublin to attend a theatrical performance. Before the performance began her husband bought her an opera glass. During the performance a lady beside Mrs. Simmons borrowed the glass for a moment and then returned it.
"Never mind handing it back. Look through it as much as you want to. I can look through it all day tomorrow out at home," replied Mrs. Simmons.

Overrated Then
"A man should stop every now and then and take stock of himself," remarked the philosopher.
"I don't agree with you," said the pessimistic person.
"Why not?"
"It is impossible for man to remain always 21. And that is about the only time in life when taking stock of himself is apt to give him any considerable amount of satisfaction."—Rehoboth Sunday Herald.

THE TRIBUNE'S DAILY TRAVELETTE
(By Nilsah)

INLAND MANCHURIA
Manchuria is not Chinese, except in name. China is an old, shrewd, crowded bee-hive; Manchuria is a land of open spaces, a pioneer's country, a harsh and simple province where man and nature come to hand-grips.

To see the real Manchuria, it is necessary to leave the railroad. The right of way is too much a transplanted strip of Japan. Once into the back country to the westward, however, you come on the northland Chinaman still in possession of his own. His dwelling is a hut, his vehicles apparently are patterned on those of prehistoric man, his roads are unspeakable, his costume in summer is sketchy and inadequate, but his country is green and yellow with bean-fields and ripening millet, his manners are smooth with the conventional polish of countless centuries, and though Russia and Japan have used his land for a battle-ground and his interests for a doormat he continues to look the world in the face serenely.

You come to a little town and ask directions. If you are a western barbarian, you probably do this without dismounting, perhaps without stopping your horse. You have fractured one of the most time-hallowed and moss-grown conventions; you get no reply from the natives. After you comes a Chinaman driving a string of pack-mules. He too desires to know the road, but nobody would guess it. He dismounts and greets the townsman ceremonially. He converses. He discusses the Japanese Asiatic policy, he animadverts on the price of soy beans, apparently he quotes Confucius at length and with relish. Finally it develops casually that he is looking for directions. He gets them in full.

Following the mule-train, you push out again into the country. A group of children watches you depart with a comical expression of self-satisfaction and placid hostility. That look is peculiarly Chinese. No other children could look hostile in just that good-natured and superior fashion. With one other figure, they sum up the province.

The other figure is an old man, sunning himself before a flimsy grass hut. His years are heavy on his back, but his eyes peer out bright and indomitable. He plucks at a tuft of a straggly beard with thin hands. He is innocent as an infant, shrewd as a fox. The depths of his ignorance is only equalled by the depth of his wisdom. He is China, with all her weakness and all her strength.

THE WINNER
By William Winter.

Copyright, 1915—The Bobbs-Merrill Company

Henry was no stranger to the American game, though he played it with no more than mediocre skill and knowledge. Still, he was no innocent utterly unable to take care of himself, and this spared the party any qualms of conscience they may have retained. As a matter of fact, he was not the only "come-on" in the gathering, neither Stevens nor Gentry being aware that anything unusual was on the bill of fare, though both knew that every game played in Parker's back room was of the cut-throat variety and that any one sitting in did so at his peril. Both believed themselves capable of self-protection.

They sat around the table and played straight jack pots from the start, the limit being high and the stakes considerably larger than Henry was accustomed to. He did well, however, winning enough to offset his occasional losses and gradually piling up his chips as the evening wore on. Nobody paid any particular attention to him and he was, apparently, accepted as one in a party where, to use Worm's expression, "all friendship ceased" when the first deck was cut.

At last Parker, who had been losing a little, called for a new deck and it seemed to have an effect for, after that, his luck improved until he more than held his own. But now Worm began to lose heavily and shortly he too called for fresh cards. By this time Henry had nearly seven hundred dollars before him, including the five hundred he had brought. Stevens and Gentry also were winning, though not so consistently.

Murdoch and Manners had just about held their own during this time but now the former began to lose consistently until his disgust became loud. The deal worked around to Manners before he, in his turn, called for a new deck.

"Hold on," he said. "Give us a fresh pack, Jack. And let's have action. No shuffle goes! Let each man cut and then deal as they come. The game's like a morgue."

Nobody saw anything to object to in this and there was no dissent although Gentry made a joke about Murdoch's notion that cutting instead of shuffling would improve the odds. This started an argument on the question while Manners tore the cover from a new pack and laid it before Parker, the first to his left. Parker cut the cards.

The deck was passed to Murdoch, to Worm, to Stevens, to Henry and to Gentry, each one of them cutting. Then Manners dealt the cards swiftly and accurately to each man, leaving his own on the table after he had laid the deck down with a hand over it. He looked around at the party.

"Anybody open?" he asked.
Parker shook his head dubiously, but Henry thought he detected a cunning gleam in his eye and doubted whether his refusal was genuine. Murdoch, with an expression of satisfaction, opened for a dollar. Stevens raised the ante five dollars. Henry came in, keeping a wooden face. Gentry raised again.

Manners turned up his cards, frowned, hesitated and then impatiently threw in enough to call. Parker sighed and also came in. Murdoch looked at Stevens as if debating and then at Gentry, but he finally saw the raise. Stevens promptly met Gentry's raise with another and Henry saw this. Then Gentry raised again.

This performance was repeated another time and then Gentry evened it up by letting it pass. Manners picked up the deck and faced the grinning crew.

"How many?" to Parker. That gentleman smiled and shook his head. Murdoch, with a confident air, stood pat. So did Stevens, Henry and Gentry. Manners eyed this unusual group with anxiety, but, with a determined air, threw four cards away and drew as many, settling back in his chair with a frown.

Parker opened the betting with five dollars and was promptly raised by Murdoch, who was in turn "boosted" by Stevens.

NEWS NOTES from MOVIELAND
- 67 DAISY DEAN -

A monument to "The Blindness of Virtue"—a life-sized figure of the personification of girl-hood innocence and ignorance—this is the ambition of Miss Edna Mayo, the Essanay actress and sculptress who, it will be recalled, portrayed the leading part of Effie in this moral film. Miss Mayo maintains a studio in her dressing room.

"At first I was in doubt which was the richest subject for a statue," she said. "Mary Ann, who went wrong; or Effie, who was rescued on the edge of the pit."

"For a dismal, melancholy figure, whose face is contorted with the mental agony of shame and accusation, I should choose Mary Ann. As Effie was timely told by her mother of the great secrets of life, I have decided that a face radiating light and pride from the newly revealed facts regarding herself and with trembling hands drawing the blindfold veil of 'ignorance' away from her face would be more inspiring than one of Mary Ann's."

Kerrigan Wanted To Be a Minister
J. Warren Kerrigan, popular film star to be seen in "The Pool of Fame," a Red Feather Universal release, once studied for the ministry.

Kerrigan, who has caused many a lull in the breath market by his dramatic actions in tense situations, was born in Louisville in 1890.

He was educated in the Louisville public schools, later studying for the Episcopal ministry in New York. It was while there he first became interested in theatricals and at the age of nineteen he joined his brother-in-law in "The Road to Yesterday."

His six feet one inch of stature served him in good stead in such legitimate productions as "Brown of Harvard" and "The Master Key."

Physical Anguish For Hazel Dawn
Being thrown out of the house by an irate landlady merely in motion pictures is, according to Hazel Dawn, fraught with a great deal of physical anguish. In proof of which the star holds up a small white hand into which three of the film landlady's fingernails gouged deep holes. Of course it was all an accident and the "landlady" is in reality one of Miss Dawn's most ardent admirers—but that does not replace the small first line trenches which were plowed in the star's hand.

Willard Mack, Gerda Holmes and Clara Whipple will head the cast of a big feature, temporarily entitled, "His One Big Chance." It will be the next picture to be directed by John Ince. This is a newspaper story of unique and powerful character.

The Searchlight

AN INSANE VILLAGE
A whole village is now being built in New York state for the care of the feeble-minded and insane. Already 1,200 patients are installed in the four dormitories erected, and buildings are going up which will accommodate three thousand.

The distribution of patients among the dormitories is made after a careful medical examination, which classifies the exact extent to which they are abnormal. Boys under sixteen are kept separated from the adult males, and young girls are housed separately from the older women.

One building is devoted to men who are only slightly deranged or subject to periodic lapses. Here they are studied and suitable work provided them. Often they are given continuous employment on farms surrounding the village. Thus they are able to help in maintaining the institution. Regular employment is also provided for the women and girls, and in this way many of the patients are able to become self-supporting.

TELL OF LEAGUE WORK IN NATIONS OF THE WORLD

A glimpse of what is being accomplished by the Epworth league among the nations of the world was shown in the missionary program given by the Queen Esther Circle of the Caledonia Street Methodist church last evening in place of the regular meeting of the Epworth league. Every country which today has an Epworth league was represented by a member of the circle, each girl bearing the flag of the country represented, and as the various nations passed in review the girls told of the work being done by that particular branch of the Epworth league. The entertainment was presented under the direction of Miss Corolla Bangsberg, and the girls taking part were as follows:

- Philippine Islands—Myrtle Olson and Vivian Johnson.
- Mexico—Charlotte Lumley and Gertrude Gunderson.
- Scandinavia—Esther Peterson and Esther Olson.
- Switzerland—Marjory Spah and Hattie Tuttle.
- India—Esther Tuttle and Ethel Mulder.
- Japan—Blanche Mulder and Eunice Brown.

Many Women Will Attend Conventions Of Both Parties

Suffragettes Making Plans to Secure Suffrage Plank in National Platforms of Republicans and Democrats

WAUKESHA, Wis., March 27.—Delegations of women that will far outnumber the accredited delegates of the two political parties will attend the national conventions of the democratic and republican parties, according to an announcement made at the Washington headquarters of the National American Woman suffrage association.

The chief purpose behind the move is to secure in the platforms of those two parties planks favoring votes for women. Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt, president of the national association, whose recent visit to Wisconsin was of such general interest, expects to visit practically every state in the union to enlist sympathy for the demonstrations at the political conventions.

Much enthusiasm was evinced by Wisconsin women at the congressional conference in the Chicago parade, which will take place in connection with the republican national convention June 7. A delegation of several hundred Wisconsin women is expected to march in the parade. A distinctive regalia will be especially designed for the Wisconsin delegation and if possible a band will be secured for the day. Every county in southern Wisconsin will be represented and many counties further north will join the delegation.

Members of the New York assembly are largely in favor of again submitting the question of woman suffrage to a referendum of the voters of that state, in spite of the fact that the woman suffrage measure went down to defeat at the election last November. The resolution providing for the re-submission of the equal suffrage amendment in New York in 1917 was passed by the assembly on March 14 by the enormous majority of 109 to 30. Similar action is expected in the senate in spite of dilatory tactics by some members. A majority of the judiciary committee which has the resolution in charge are pledged to report it and a majority of the senators have promised to vote for it on the floor. Governor Whitman of New York is an ardent suffragist and is expected to sign the bill.

The new secretary of war, Newton D. Baker of Ohio, is not only in favor of equal suffrage but stood publicly for it in his own state when such action brought sharp criticism from some quarters. All the members of the president's cabinet with one exception are suffragists.

ATHLETE CALLED TO PULPIT OF BAPTIST CHURCH

Ralph C. Ostergren of University of Chicago Is Chosen for Tabernacle Vacancy

The Tabernacle Baptist church, north side, yesterday called Ralph C. Ostergren, of the University of Chicago, as pastor. Mr. Ostergren spoke morning and evening and at the close of the latter service the members were brought together by the pulpit committee. The call was unanimous. Word was received today that Mr. Ostergren had accepted the call and would assume the pastorate about July 1.

The candidate is just finishing his course at the Divinity school. He has unusual qualifications for the ministry, being especially popular with young people. In college he has excelled in sports, being an all-around athlete. At present he is captain and center of the Divinity school basketball team. In boy's work he has special training.

Mr. Ostergren was discovered by Rev. W. J. Peacock, of the First Baptist church, who is anxious to have him settle here. In addition to his call to the north side church, Mr. Ostergren has been asked to consider the position as boy scout executive of the city.

MYRIADS OF FRY HELD IN HATCHERY FOR LOCAL STREAMS

Rainbow and Brook Trout Hatched Out; Prepare Apparatus for Pikeperch

With the time near when the trout streams of La Crosse and adjoining counties will be opened, the government fish hatchery in Copeland park is counting the days before its thousands of fish fry will be ready for planting in the creeks and rivers of this part of the state.

One hundred thousand each of rainbow and brook trout fry are hatched out, the rainbow fry having already attained one and one-half inches of growth. The brook trout were but recently hatched.

The hatching apparatus for pikeperch is being assembled at the hatchery in anticipation of the arrival of between fifteen and twenty million eggs from the government station at Put-In-Bay, Ohio. The apparatus was used for the first time last spring.

Agitation for the enlargement of hatching facilities at the station is being made. It is claimed that by the addition of another deck to the present hatching troughs the capacity of the station can be doubled with but little expense.

PYTHIANS PLAN INITIATION WITH NEARBY CITIES

A joint Knights of Pythias initiation, with John P. Linton and Hamilton lodges of La Crosse as hosts, with Winona, Prairie du Chien, Sparta and Tomah lodges participating, is planned by Hamilton lodge of the north side for an early date in May. With a class of fifteen awaiting initiation in Hamilton lodge, it is thought a class of at least one hundred would take the oath on that occasion.

PALE WIVES AND MOTHERS

Many women who had a good color in their girlhood grow pale and colorless when they become wives and mothers.

When the fading color in cheeks and lips is accompanied by a loss of brightness in the eyes and an increasing heaviness in the step, the cause is to be sought in the state of the blood.

A hundred causes may contribute to the condition of thin blood that is known as anemia. Overwork, lack of out-door exercise, insufficient rest and sleep, improper diet, these are a few of them. The important thing is to restore the blood to normal, to build it up so that the color will return to cheeks and lips, the brightness to the eyes and lightness to the step.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are the great blood builder and invigorator. They begin at once to increase the red corpuscles in the blood and the new blood carries strength and health to every part of the body. Appetite increases, digestion becomes more perfect, energy and ambition return.

A pamphlet, "Building Up the Blood," will be sent free on request by the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y. If you mention this paper. Your own druggist sells Dr. Williams' Pink Pills or they will be sent by mail on receipt of price, 50 cents per box, six boxes, $2.50.

DEATH AND DAMAGE

AS FLOOD TIES UP WISCONSIN CITIES

SOUTH WAYNE, Wis., March 27.—With the number of dead in floods in Southern Wisconsin and Illinois increased to four and rumors that the total death toll may reach ten, conditions were gradually improving in the flooded districts today.

Charles Owen, a farmer near here, was drowned this morning while trying to rescue cattle from a flooded barn. William Horr, railroad agent in Winslow, Ill., lost his life in the flood.

Railroad traffic was tied up in the flooded district. No trains were running today on the Illinois Central between Monroe, Wis., and Freeport, Ill., or on the Milwaukee road from Broadhead west to Dodgeville. Both roads follow the Pecatonica river.

Water was ten inches deep in the postoffice at Blanchardville. Nearly every business house in the city was flooded. Boats were being used on the streets of Darlington and business was practically suspended.

Milwaukee Says Two Dead

MILWAUKEE, Wis., March 27.—Two were known to be dead this morning in floods which are causing thousands of dollars damage in southern Wisconsin. The floods which extended through Green, Lafayette, Grant and Iowa counties were caused by heavy rains of Saturday and Sunday.

The Sugar and Pecatonica rivers are on a rampage. Trains were tied up.

William Horr was drowned last night when he was swept off a trestle while trying to cross it. Lester Kelly lost his life near Mineral Point.

HOW UNCLE SAM BROUGHT SEA TO MOUNTAIN CITY

a uniform navigable depth, from from ice, all the year round. Birmingham has resolved that the first step should be to bring the city and the river together, both to facilitate shipping and to prevent private capital from gaining control of water frontage which should belong to the city as a whole.

To accomplish this, the people of Birmingham plan to extend their corporate limits, in a long narrow strip clear to the banks of the river. It is not a project without precedent. Los Angeles brought itself within touch of the Pacific coast by exactly the same measure, and has enjoyed many practical benefits therefrom. The Birmingham people have made a careful study of the Los Angeles method, and will probably proceed in a similar manner. A strip of land about two hundred yards wide reaching from the city to the river, will become a part of the incorporation. Upon this will be built a fine macadamized boulevard and a passenger and freight electric line owned and run by the city. This line will carry both passengers and freight during the day, but will handle the bulk of its freight at night. At the end of the strip will be the municipal terminals.

Battle Over Routes

This, at least seems to be the plan most generally agreed upon. There is abundant difference of opinion, wherefore this is not offered as authoritative. The project has already gone so far as a preliminary survey of two routes by the county engineer, and a hot battle of words has been waged as to which route ought to be accepted. There are bound to be delays, but the people have fully made up their mind to the project, and there is little doubt but what it will ultimately be carried out. It is estimated that it will cost the city a million dollars to finish the project, terminals and all.

The completion of this great government work has opened to Birmingham a wealth of opportunity at a single stroke. The industrial strength of the city lies in the fact that it has immense quantities of iron, coal and limestone so located in the mountains surrounding it that the force of gravity literally carries them to the doors of the furnaces, making Birmingham a natural center of steel and iron manufacture. Her weakness has been the lack of cheap transportation. The Black Warrior project has supplied the opportunity to make up that deficiency. For example, by the river freight may be shipped to New Orleans for less than half of what it costs by rail.

Look at These Barges

The most immediate and obvious opportunity the river affords is to ship coal to Mobile by water; and this already is being done by several companies. One of them has established a line of self-actuating barges—great shallow-draft steamers designed to carry 2,000 tons of freight each. Another has made a great saving in the loading process by dumping coal from a bridge directly into the barges, thus making the force of gravity do most of the work. The distance to Mobile by water is 425 miles, and the river has a minimum depth of six feet all the way all the year round. This is sufficient for all tug-boats and barges. More than half of the coal that goes from Birmingham to Mobile is already taking the water route, and the development of new mines has been stimulated by the traffic.

The Birmingham coal people are now bent upon having the navy use Alabama coal, so that Mobile may become a coaling station for vessels operating in gulf waters. They claim that a government test has proved the value of this coal for use on the gunboats and submarines. Birmingham also plans to renew her overtures to the government to build a gun and armor plant here. This has long been a favorite project, and now that the city has water transportation to the sea, the people feel that their argument has been immeasurably strengthened.

So far these barges that carry coal to Mobile have been coming back empty for the most part. This is manifest waste, and the Birmingham business men are eagerly investigating to find what supplies the city could best obtain by the water route. The most available cargoes seem to be the ferro-manganese ores, which Birmingham imports from Cuba, and the pebble phosphate that comes to the city from Florida for use in making fertilizer. Both of these commodities could be brought much more cheaply by water, and it is believed that they ultimately will be.

Barge Line to Cuba

Birmingham business men already have preparations substantially under way for reaching much farther afield by way of their new water route. One company has already completed plans for a line of sea-going barges which will connect Birmingham with New Orleans and Cuba by water. There is something very picturesque about the idea of a mountain city running a boatline to a sea-island; but in this case there is nothing impracticable about it. Cuba needs the pipe, wire, nails and other iron and steel product which Birmingham can thus place upon the island at a very low cost. This is still more true of Texas, Louisiana, and the Southwest generally, where Birmingham manufacturers believe they can successfully share the trade with Pittsburgh products coming down the Mississippi. One Birmingham concern has already purchased terminals in New Orleans.

Birmingham is something of a wholesale center, and the wholesale dealers are also out for a share of the benefits conferred by the new waterway. They believe that they can both ship and receive goods to excellent advantage by water, and they are not going to wait until the electric line is completed. They Birmingham's new river is an excellent example of how a very good thing may come out of the so-called "pork-barrel." It shows how the great constructive forces of the government may move barriers too great for the strength of a single community, and open splendid opportunities for development and profit to the whole country.

SUPERWAR COUNCIL DISCLOSES SCHEME TO SUBTRACT ITALY

PARIS, March 27.—Extraordinary precautions to guard against a great Zeppelin raid on Paris while the super war council of the allies is in session, were taken by the French military authorities today.

The greatest fleet of aeroplanes that has maneuvered above the capital in many months took the air promptly at dawn to patrol the skies. Lines of air scouts extended far outside the city, over the northern suburbs. Relays of aviators kept constant watch for Zeppelins from the district north of Compiègne.

Sitting in the conference today were the commanders of the British, French and Italian armies, the Serbian prince regent, the prime ministers of France, England, Italy, Belgium and Serbia, and many other leading statesmen.

Sought Italian Defection

That Germany has been making desperate efforts to detach Italy from the ranks of the allies was learned by the United Press today when the super-war council met for its first session. The Germans planned by shrewd propaganda and by a triumph at Verdun to create such dissatisfaction in Italy that the government would reconsider its plan to help "close the steel ring" around the central empires, by joining in the Paris program for concerted action.

Learning of plans for the super-war council and alarmed at the prospects that the allies would frame a program for the closest military, diplomatic and economic collaboration for maximum offensive efficiency, the kaiser decided on an attempt to take Verdun, believing the moral effect of such a defeat on the allies would halt the conference. At the same time he sent a shrewd band of propagandists to Italy.

The Italian government was on the alert and took quick steps to counteract the effect of this German propaganda. The Germans' failure to take Verdun dealt a final blow to the scheme.

Expect Stand-Pat Notice

What will come out of the all-important conference that opened here today cannot be guessed. It seems certain, however, that one of the first public statements issued will inform the world that the allies stand as a unit against accepting any peace suggestions coming from Berlin at the present time.

THREE BOATS SUNK IN COMBINED AIR AND NAVAL BATTLE

German airship sheds in Schleswig-Holstein, eastward of the island of Sylt. The seaplanes were conveyed to their rendezvous close to the German coast by an escorting force of light cruisers and destroyers under Commodore Tyrwhitt.

Three of the seaplanes which took part in the attack are missing. The destroyer Medusa was in collision with the destroyer Laverock, and it is feared that in the stormy weather which prevailed the Medusa may have been lost, but no misgivings are felt as to the safety of the crew. Two German armed patrol vessels were sunk by the destroyers.

German Official Report

BERLIN, March 27.—(By wire.)—The official statement dealing with the British attack on northern Schleswig says:

From two ships which were accompanied by a cruiser squadron and a flotilla of destroyers, five English hydroaeroplanes started Saturday morning for an attack against the German aeronautic establishments in northern Schleswig.

Not less than three of them, among which was a fighting aeroplane, were forced down by the defense service on and about the island of Sylt. The inmates of the machines, who were made prisoners, are four English officers and one noncommissioned officer.

Bombs were only thrown in the district of the Hoyer water gate. No damage was done.

Diver Thought Lost

One of the German torpedo boats which engaged the British naval forces has not returned and is believed to be lost, the admiralty admitted today. Two German armed patrol boats were also sunk.

German naval aeroplanes attacked the Britishers and recorded several hits, heavily damaging one enemy destroyer.

MAX AFFELDT PAROLED

Max Affeldt, former president of the county old soldiers' and widows' relief association, was today examined here by B. M. Jostad, probation officer of the Wisconsin Industrial association. Mr. Jostad stated that Mr. Affeldt had been paroled to him eral in command if the bombardment would occur.

"Certainly," he said, with a smile. "That's our daily ration."

As he spoke, the explosions recommenced from an elevation outside the town. The scene was tensely gripping. Great clouds of smoke, pierced by far away red shafts of flame, rose over the city. Guns hammered an accompaniment.

To the northeast the crest of Douaumont, scene of so much bloody fighting, was being swept by heavy fire from French guns. The fire resembled Vesuvius belching black smoke. On the southern slopes German shells exploded thickly in flashes of fire. Smoke geysers shot up like magic mushrooms.

Paris was confident about the situation at Verdun when we left. But we found the axiom that the closer one gets to the front the more confident are the French soldiers, to be quite true.

During the bombardment we entered the underground city of Verdun, dug beneath the citadel many months ago in preparation for just such shell fire.

Violinist Entertains

A group of soldiers, off duty, were lying calmly on cots or sitting on boxes of army beef, absently listening to a young violinist playing Saen's "Lecyone" and other classics.

Elsewhere troops were mending, writing, shaving, baking or fiddling around in small routine affairs as if a monotonous peace brooded over the world and only petty events occurred to pass the time away. Up above the guns were shrieking fire and death.

Soldiers Optimistic

Further heavy attacks on the Verdun front will not surprise French soldiers, but they believe they are fore-doomed to failure. Officers say they would ask nothing better than a continuation of the attacks since the enemy's losses have been higher with each new onslaught.

Verdun seems impregnable. Certainly it cannot be taken without enormous losses to the attacking forces. This whole sector is like a giant hill. Men and transports swarm unceasingly, day and night, in methodical movements, unconfused, unexcited and without undue haste.

Ammunition is stacked like cordwood at vantage points. The number of guns seemed unlimited, likewise the spare parts. Apparently there will be no lack of munitions in any contingency. The French soldiers are at their best when they are busied.

Verdun's defense will mark an epoch in the history of the war. The citadel's defenders are an aspiring sight, as gay as the best warriors of French traditions, as war hardened as the imperturbable forces of Napoleon; as bull-dogish as Britishers. France's fighters are visibly and noticeably better than at the start.

BODIES OF PAIR FOUND DEAD IN CAR ARE CLAIMED

Both were dressed in substantial clothing, and Gunther had a traveling bag well-filled with other garments. But Wells had only $3.70 in his pockets and Gunther was penniless. The letter to his sweetheart, Miss Ethel Robinson, which was opened by the coroner in search of identification, told the story. It was a light-hearted recital of repeated failure to find work, of long jumps across the country following the mirage of a job that never eventuated.

"I don't know where I will go from here so you can answer when I get an address," said the letter's cheerful close. "Well, dearest, I must close, so be a good girl and remember your daddy because he is coming after you some day. So goodbye—You own Daddy Bill."

Tale of His Wanderings

The letter told of Gunther's wanderings in search of a job.

"I got discharged at the Bluffs a week ago Sunday. I spent about a week getting here. I went to Sioux City and in to So. Dakota, then here I thought I would make one more try. But I am going to work for a road. I can stick on, and then I'm going to send for you. Well, dearest, you must not get mad at your daddy because he is trying to do the best he can. Maybe I will get lucky again some time. I am going to make a swing and go to K. City if I don't land something here."

A postscript in a corner of the letter said:

"P. S. Dearest be a good girl and a thousand kisses to you. Mizpah."

and would be under his care until the expiration of the prison term to which he was sentenced by Judge John Brindley.

WILL "HAPPY" GREEN ESCAPE $300 FINE BY SERVING JAIL TERM?

Will "Happy" Green avoid paying his fine of $300, imposed upon him in addition to the sixty day jail sentence he is serving at the county castle?

Local attorneys were interested in the question today. If the legless leader of the "Reckless Six" refuses to pay his fine at the end of his two-months' term, there is a question if the authorities can do anything but turn him loose, it was said. "Not exceeding sixty days" says the statute concerning the imprisonment by which reckless driving can be punished. The only recourse of the law for failure to pay a fine is imprisonment until the fine is worked out. Extending "Happy's" incarceration to work out his $300 assessment would be imprisonment exceeding sixty days, expressly forbidden by the statutes, it is claimed.

District Attorney Otto M. Schlachbach today would give no opinion about the county's power in case "Happy" does not pay the fine. Instead, he expressed confidence that the legless one would pay. A. T. Holmes, Green's attorney, only smiled when asked about the situation.

MORE TROOPS READY TO ENTER MEXICO VILLA IN GETAWAY

sible eventualities would bring about disaster.

Supply Problem Acute

The supply problem is becoming acute, with the immediate granting of permission to use the lines of the Mexico Central railway becoming a vital issue. A number of auto trucks with flanged wheels have been dispatched to the front. These may be used on the railroad.

Weeks, perhaps months, of hard campaigning face the American punitive expedition in its chase for Villa.

Establish New Field Base

Colonel Dodd and three columns of cavalry are now more than 250 miles from the border, according to the report. Establishment of a new field base at El Valle is announced.

Casas Grandes Road Bad

"The road between the border and Casas Grandes has become well nigh impassable," said Funston. "Torn up by thousands of trucks, motorcycles and horses, the sand has become so deep as to make this means of supply transportation too slow to be of much value."

Denies Snipers Story

BY E. T. CONKLE

(United Press Staff Correspondent.)

EL PASO, Texas, March 27.—A report that six American soldiers had been wounded by peons sniping near Namiquipa and that several Mexicans had been killed or wounded by the return fire of the United States soldiers was denied by J. O. Crockett, vice-president of the Mexico Northwestern railroad, who stated he has been in constant communication with Casas Grandes and points south.

Villa Flees Southwest

Leaving a trail of dead and dying, Villa with remnants of his one mighty army, was today fleeing southward from Namiquipa in the direction of the Sierra Tarahumara mountains, according to army advisers. That Villa was killing deserters when caught and giving Mexicans the choice of the firing squad or joining him was evident from a censor's report from the expeditionary forces.

The official reports from General Pershing's expedition state that Villa's horses were in bad condition. Better mounted American soldiers were within two days' ride of the outlaw at last reports. It was hoped that the pursuers might head him off before he reaches the Sierras.

Vast military stores are accumulating at Fort Bliss, caused a renewal of reports that army officials momentarily expected permission to use the railway from Juarez to Casas Grandes.

TURKEY DISCLAIMS PERSIA SINKING

WASHINGTON, March 27.—Turkey, the state department announced today, disclaims responsibility for sinking the British liner Persia in the Mediterranean.

The Republicans of Wisconsin on the 27th of January, 1916, at a convention regularly called, nominated the following delegates to the National Convention.

At Large—

EMANUEL L. PHILIPP.

SAMUEL A. COOK.

EMIL BAENSCH.

C. K. ELLINGSON.

Seventh District—

FRANK H. HANSON, of Mauston.

ALBERT KNUDSON, of Black River Falls.

These men stand for republican principles and a protective tariff. They will, if elected, go to the national convention at Chicago in June UNSTRUCTURED. Do not tie the hands of Wisconsin's delegation by instructing them to vote for a presidential impossibility.

Go to the polls April 4th and vote for these delegates and let Wisconsin aid in the selection of the nation's wisest and best man to lead the republican party.

Reports from Every State

All Agree that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Wonderfully Relieves Woman's Suffering.

From all parts of this country the clearest evidence is constantly coming to the office of the Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. of Lynn, Mass., proving the wonderful power shown by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound in controlling ills peculiar to women. Here are letters from Vermont, Arkansas and New Jersey:

It Cured Me!
Roxbury, Vt.—“A year ago last December I was taken with a female trouble and doctored for it but did not get any help until I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. My back troubled me a good deal and these troubles lasted so long that I grew terribly poor and I felt a great deal easier lying down. No one knows what I suffered. I did not dare consult another doctor I was so afraid he would say I had got to have an operation. I can truly say that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound was a god-send to me for after suffering about eight months this wonderful medicine cured me.”—Mrs. NELLIE E. FRENCH.

Her Best Friend.
Weehawken, N. J.—“I must call you my best friend for what your remedies have done for me. I am 50, and am passing through the Change of Life and for some time I felt bad but since I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound I feel fine and will recommend it to every woman who suffers as I did.”—Mrs. KATHIE LEONHARDT, 419 7th St., Weehawken, N. J.

Had Awful Pains in Side.
Branch, Ark.—“Every month I suffered with cramping pains and I had awful pains in my left side. I was very irregular. I had a tired feeling all the time and did not sleep good at night. I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and in three months I was well.”—Mrs. MAE GATTIS, Branch, Ark.

If you want special advice write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential), Lynn, Mass. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman and held in strict confidence.

EASY TO DARKEN YOUR GRAY HAIR
You can Bring Back Color and Lustre with Sage Tea and Sulphur.

When you darken your hair with Sage Tea and Sulphur, no one can tell, because it's done so naturally, so evenly. Preparing this mixture, though, at home is messy and troublesome. For 50 cents you can buy at any drug store the ready-to-use preparation, improved by the addition of other ingredients, called “Wyneth's Sage and Sulphur Compound.” You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. By morning all gray hair disappears, and, after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully darkened, glossy and luxuriant.

Gray, faded hair, though no disgrace, is a sign of old age, and as we all desire a youthful and attractive appearance, get busy at once with Wyneth's Sage and Sulphur Compound and look years younger. This ready-to-use preparation is a delightful toilet requisite and not a medicine. It is not intended for the cure, mitigation or prevention of disease.

Mean Insinuation.
“Yes,” said the young singer complacently, “I had a great reception after my song last night. The audience shouted ‘Fine! fine!’ ‘Good thing you didn't sing again,’ said the critic. ‘Why, what do you mean?’ ‘They would have yelled ‘Imprisonment!’ the second time.”—Stray Stories.

HIGH SCHOOL GIRL
Run-down, Weak and Nervous—Made Strong by Vinol.
For the benefit of La Crosse school girls who overwork and get into highly nervous, weak and run-down condition, we publish this letter from Dorris Coplier, of Porth Worth, Tex.,—“I go to the high school and take music lessons, and became run-down, weak and very nervous, so I could not do anything. I would shake all over and could have screamed at times, and was really unfit to keep on with my studies. Mother purchased a bottle of Vinol for me and within a week I was better, and in two weeks I had gained five pounds and ‘light fine’.”
It is the curative strengthening elements of the true cod liver extract, aided by the blood-making, revitalizing effect of peptonate of iron and beef peptone, contained in Vinol, which made it so successful in building up health and strength and overcoming the nervous condition of Miss Coplier, and we ask every school girl in La Crosse who is in a like condition to try Vinol, on our guarantee to return their money if it fails to benefit. MRS. SCHRADER DIES FOLLOWING SHORT ILLNESS

Mrs. Elizabeth Schrader, a native of England, and widow of the late Charles Schrader, died at 1:15 this morning at her home, 1311 Johnson street, following a short illness. Death was caused from an acute attack of gall stones. Mrs. Schrader was 75 years old.
Born in England in 1841, Mrs. Schrader came to America when young, and has been a resident of La Crosse for thirty-two years. She was a member of the West Avenue Methodist church. Surviving are three children. They are Mrs. Robert Wallace, Mrs. James Hilton and W. L. Schrader, all of La Crosse. Twelve grandchildren also survive.
Funeral services will be at 2:30 Thursday afternoon from the residence. Rev. J. E. Watson will have charge and interment will be made in Oak Grove cemetery.

BERLIN DISBELIEVES STORY GERMAN BOAT IN SUSSEX AFFAIR

Foreign Relations Expert Tells of English Attempts at Poisoning German and American Opinion

DON'T WANT WAR HE SAYS
Expert Says Neither Germany or America Is for a Break with Other; As-sails New Agencies

BERLIN, March 27.—English reports that a German submarine sank the channel packet Sussex were generally disbelieved here today, though no official denial has yet been issued by the admiralty.
German submarines that may have been operating off the French coast probably will not return to their bases for several days. In the meantime officials expressed the hope that neutral powers, whose citizens may have been aboard the Sussex, will not form decided opinions from versions of the affair furnished through English newspaper sources.
Dr. Seigfried Hecksher of Hamburg, foreign relations expert of the reichstag, warned Americans against accepting English reports as true and scouted the idea expressed by the English press that there may be a break between the United States and Germany.
“Neither President Wilson, nor the American people, nor the kaiser, nor the German people want war between the two countries,” he said. “Where there is no desire for a conflict it must be avoided. It is a fact that most of the critical situations between the two countries have been occasioned by the vitriolic practice of English news agencies in spreading poison both in Germany and America.”
“Isn't every news item which English agencies cable to America changed for the purpose of instigating America against Germany? Isn't it true that every story the English cable to Germany from America is equally distorted?”
“I can cite two instances. After von Papen and Boy-Ed were recalled, a brief English news agency dispatch from Washington stated that President Wilson would not guarantee their safe conduct further than the American border. You have no idea what bitter feelings that dispatch caused throughout Germany. The next day the truth was received that President Wilson had obtained safe conduct, but the English news agency had spread its poison paragraph.”
“Does President Wilson's letter to Chairman Stone speak volumes for the incomparable work of the English on this line? Only those excerpts which disguised Wilson's real position were cabled here, from London. Again the English poison was spread broadcast in Germany. Is it any wonder that two nations which do not want war should be brought to the brink of it by the spreading of false information by an enemy?”

WINONA COUNTY MAY ADOPT OUR ROAD METHODS

Winona county, Minnesota, may pattern some of its future county highways after those in La Crosse county. Construction of the roads in this county is being examined today by acob Voelker, chairman of the Winona county board; H. B. Childs, Winona, district engineer of the Minnesota state highway commission, and J. Z. Voelker, Winona, who is interested in the construction of highways.
In company with County Clerk Bert A. Jolivette and County Highway Commissioner John Hintken, the three Winona county men left the court house at 10:30 o'clock this morning in automobiles for an all-day inspection tour.

Famous Old Mission.
Santa Barbara, probably the most visited of all the California missions, presents a perfect example in stone of the mission style of architecture. Established December 4, 1786, this is the only mission still in the hands of the Franciscans, who founded them all. The structure is situated in the city of Santa Barbara, in the foothills two miles from the ocean.

OLD FOLKS NEED “CASCARETS” FOR LIVER, BOWELS

Salts, calomel, pills act on bowels like pepper acts in nostrils.
Enjoy life! Don't stay bilious, sick, headachy and constipated.
Get a 10-cent box now.
Most old people must give to the bowels some regular help, else they suffer from constipation. The condition is perfectly natural. It is just as natural as it is for old people to walk slowly. For age is never so active as youth. The muscles are less elastic, and the bowels are muscles. And so all old people need Cascarets. One might as well refuse to aid weak eyes with glasses as to neglect this gentle aid to weak bowels. The bowels must be kept active. This is important at all ages, but never so much as at fifty.
Age is not a time for harsh physics. Youth may occasionally whip the bowels into activity. But a lash can't be used every day. What the bowels of the old need is a gentle and natural tonic. One that can be constantly used without harm. The only such tonic is Cascarets, and they cost only 10 cents per box at any drug store. They work while you sleep.

MILLIONAIRE WINS FIRST POINT IN HIS MANN ACT DEFENSE

CHICAGO, March 27.—William Rufus Edwards, millionaire St. Paul lumberman, won a victory at the opening of his trial on the Mann act charge today.
Federal Judge Anderson, before whom Edwards is being tried, ruled that all evidence tending to show the past and present character of Miss Ada Cox, Edwards' accuser, may be admitted. Miss Cox is a stenographer who once sued Edwards for breach of promise.
H. P. Young, counsel for Edwards, declared in his opening statement that Miss Cox had been a principal in affairs with two other men before she met Edwards.
“She suggested the trip to St. Paul, on which this charge rests,” said Young to the jury. “She planned to extort money from him.”
“You may present this evidence,” Judge Anderson said, despite protests from Assistant District Attorney Igoe.
Miss Cox, the first witness, told how Edwards met her in Chicago while she was employed as a stenographer by the Shelby County Wash Coat company in June 1910, took her to lunch and later suggested that she come to St. Paul. A vacation was then arranged for her by Edwards with her employer.
“Edwards met me in St. Paul about October 6 and took me to the Commercial club for dinner and later to the home of Mrs. Anna Gouth, where he had arranged for me to stay. I was feeling uncomfortable at the time owing to the amount of wine I had consumed. He assisted me to my room. When he remained there I objected. He said that he arranged with Mrs. Gouth to stay there all night and that she had a room for him. A suitcase of Edwards' which was in my room was left by mistake, he said.”
Miss Cox then related in detail the incidents of Edwards' alleged crime.

He speaks at Milwaukee tonight; at Enosha on Tuesday night, and at Milwaukee again on Wednesday evening.

GERMAN FLEET WILL LEAD INVASION WHEN IT COMES OUT AGAIN WARNS PAPER

LONDON, March 27.—That the German fleet, if it comes out to do battle in the North sea, will be accompanied by scores of transports carrying troops for an invasion of England, was seriously suggested in an article appearing Friday in the Daily News and Star.
The News, which recently gave warning that rumors of new German superdreadnoughts equipped with 17-inch guns may be found to be true, declared the war office fully realizes the dangers of such an invasion and is keeping a large force of men in England to meet the expected attack.
“There is a growing feeling that an attempted invasion of our eastern coast during the next week or so is quite on the cards,” said the Star. “There are many signs in East Anglia that the military authorities share this view, but these must not be discussed here and it is sufficient to consider the actions of the enemy.”
The Star declared that the Germans are torpedoing neutral ships in the North sea solely to clear their coasts of neutral skippers who might report the assembling of German transports for invasion.

LOSS OF APPETITE
Most Successfully Treated by Taking Hood's Sarsaparilla.
Loss of appetite is accompanied by loss of vitality, which is serious. It is common in the spring because at this time the blood is impure and impoverished and fails to give the digestive organs what is absolutely necessary for the proper performance of their functions.
Hood's Sarsaparilla, the old reliable all-the-year-round medicine, is especially useful in the spring. Get it from your druggist today. By purifying and enriching the blood and giving vitality, vigor and tone, it is wonderfully successful in the treatment of loss of appetite and the other ailments prevalent at this time. It is not simply a spring medicine; it is much more than that—but it is the best spring medicine.
Hood's Sarsaparilla makes the rich red blood the digestive organs need.

REAL ESTATE TRANSFERS

KEEP LOOKING YOUNG
It's Easy—If You Know Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets
The secret of keeping young is to feel young—to do this you must watch your liver and bowels—there's no need of having a sallow complexion—dark rings under your eyes—pimples—a billious look in your face—dull eyes with no sparkle.
Your doctor will tell you ninety per cent of all sickness comes from inactive bowels and liver.
Dr. Edwards, a well-known physician in Ohio, perfected a vegetable compound mixed with olive oil to act on the liver and bowels, which he gave to his patients for years.
Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel, are gentle in their action, yet always effective.
They bring about that exuberance of spirit, that natural buoyancy which should be enjoyed by everyone, by toning up the liver and clearing the system of impurities. You will know Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets by their olive color, 10c and 25c per box. All druggists.

Short Story

THE CONFINES OF FREEDOM

BY CATHERINE CRANMAR

(Copyright, 1916, by the McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

As the morning sunlight came into her little back bedroom Mary Hanson turned her face toward the wall and shielded her eyes with bent arm that she might take an extra Sunday morning nap unhampered by the glare. The glimpse she got of green trees and blue skies blended with her sleepy half-consciousness that she had reached another, long, lonesome Sunday when her leisure emphasized her lack of companionship, and in the jumbled dream which followed she seemed to be toiling alone up a long hill at the top of which she rested under a shady tree and was joined by the tall man who lived next door. He had an open book in his hand, just as he always did when sitting under the big tree in that boarding house back yard.

Then suddenly into her dream came the magnetic voice of the man with whom she had held daily business telephone conversations for two years, but had never seen. The strong masculinity and the caressing softness of that voice never failed to rouse in Mary's heart a longing for protection and companionship, although their talks were always about mere details of printing and delivery of office supplies.

The dream became confused, and although she caught fleeting glimpses of the man next door and heard from far away an occasional tone of the other man's deep voice, it served only to intensify her loneliness, and the dream ended abruptly in a sob half of longing and half of impatience.

That afternoon when Mary went to her room after the midday dinner she again felt the loneliness of her lot, for all the other boarders went off pleasure seeking in groups or in pairs, or to meet friends. She felt that although her years of hard work at long office hours and her night school courses had brought their hard-earned promotions and satisfactory salary, they had shut her off from the companionship of her kind and its attendant normal human interests.

Through the open window there came to her the wondrously clear song of a bird. It had the clearness of a canary's voice, but the abandon of a mocking bird, and so rollicking was its song that it brought Mary to the window to see what the singer looked like. Perched on the topmost branch of the big tree in the yard next door was a tiny yellow canary, intoxicated with the joy of being released temporarily from its cage which a maid was placing conspicuously on the fence back of the large apartment directly across the alley from Mary's boarding house. A little girl clung sobbing to the maid, who was telling her that her pet was safe and would return to its cage presently when tired of the bigger world outside. The bird sang on and on, with many a gleeful peck at the leaves and many a half-frightened start as the breeze swung the big branches of the trees.

The man next door sat as usual under the tree with a book, and as she saw him, Mary remembered her dream. The song of the bird seemed to penetrate his thoughtful mood, and he half closed his book and looked aloft until he located the songster. Slowly his face relaxed into a smile which made his strong face handsomer than Mary had before fancied it on the many summer Sundays she had seen him there.

As he turned his head away he met the smiling face of Mary, leaning on her elbows in her window. Before either of them had time to become self-conscious, their eyes had spoken to each other so plainly that as Mary returned to her reading she no longer felt the old-time loneliness.

Although she still held a book in her hand, she read little, for the song of the bird kept coming to her and with it the memory of the sympathetic smile of her neighbor. Her occasional surreptitious peeps showed the man apparently absorbed in his book, although if she could have faced him directly, she would have found that his eyes were dreamily gazing at nothing at all.

The maid and the child reappeared and began to lure it back to its cage, but the singing speck of yellow flitted from limb to limb without condescending to notice their poor imitations of its song.

Suddenly it came so near to Mary's window that she looked out and saw it perched on the tall lilac bushes at the corner of the back porch. The maid saw her and asked permission to bring the cage into the yard. Mary bade her come, and, without thinking of the proximity of the man next door, went below to try to help capture the fugitive.

When the maid approached the lilac bushes with the cage, the tiny bird tucked its black-eyed head to one side, eyed her saucily until she was almost near enough to reach it, and, with pert little chirps to emphasize each move, he went from branch to branch until it reached the top of the shrubbery, from which he flew across the fence to the lower branches of the big tree next door, and mounted with many a hop almost to the top of it.

The man next door put down his book and rose. He spoke to the maid just as Mary was consoling the weeping child, who thought her pet had got permanently beyond reach. When she raised her head the man was whistling to the bird in notes wonderfully like its own. The little yellow songster peeped down from its lofty perch, and gave a timid response to the man's call. Slowly, by almost distracting methods of coming downward a distance of six inches, and remounting four or five, the bird was coaxed to the lower branches of the tree. The maid passed the cage to the man, but the bird rediscovered the lilac bushes and took refuge again in their branches.

Without a word, the man handed the cage to Mary, and their eyes met in a smile of friendly conspiracy. The man then crouched by the fence, and as the bird again began restlessly to measure the distance back to the big tree, he rose with such a sudden bound that it covered motionless for an instant and he quickly closed his large hands over it. With great tenderness he held the quivering mite until Mary got the cage near enough for him to transfer the prisoner. The next instant, the bird was sitting trembling in a corner of its cage, and a moment later was borne away by the grateful maid and the now hilarious child.

"If the little fellow knew that his freedom would deprive him of his life, he'd thank us for capturing him, wouldn't he?" As he spoke Mary colored with surprised pleasure, for she recognized the voice of the man with whom she held those daily telephone conversations.

"Yes, he didn't have his freedom long enough to learn how many other things it deprived him of." The man's surprise at this enigmatical remark would have been greater had it not been eclipsed by his surprise at recognizing the voice in which it was spoken.

"Why surely I've learned to know Miss Hanson's voice by telephone too well not to recognize it at closer range," he said, simply. "Don't you talk to Wells at the Macon-Barnes Printing company every day."

"Yes, and I recognized your voice, too, Mr. Wells."

"If you'll give me the pleasure of knowing you as well as your voice, Miss Hanson, I'll thank that little bird for scheming so long to enjoy his freedom."

Mary's answer was soft and brief, but it led eventually to a willing surrender of her so-called freedom in exchange for the protecting companionship of John Wells. Instead of a cage he provided a charming bungalow, where contentment so encircled both of them that no craving for a fuller freedom ever came to either.

Marble Pudding

Steamed puddings will not be heavy if made with K C Baking Powder and cooked slowly to give the pudding time to rise before the dough is cooked through. Have a low blaze under the water for at least the first fifteen minutes.

K C Marble Pudding

By Mrs. Janet McKenzie Hill, Editor of the Boston Cooking School Magazine.

2 cups sifted pastry flour; 2 level teaspoonsful K C Baking Powder; 1 teaspoonful cinnamon; 1 teaspoonful salt; yolks of 2 eggs, beaten light; 1 cup sugar; 4 tablespoonsful melted butter; 1 cup cold water; whites of 2 eggs, beaten dry; 1/2 ounces melted chocolate.

Sift together, three times, the flour, baking powder, salt and cinnamon. To the yolks add the sugar, butter and water, and stir into the dry ingredients. Add the whites of the eggs. Divide the mixture into two parts and add the chocolate to one part. Disposithe two parts in a buttered mold to give a marbled appearance. Steam forty-five minutes.

Vanilla Sauce

Boil 2 cups of sugar and a cup of water six minutes; add 2 tablespoonsful of butter and a teaspoonful of vanilla extract.

The K.C. Cook's Book containing this and 90 other delicious, successful, recipes sent free upon receipt of the colored certificate packed in 25-cent cans of K.C. Baking Powder. Write your name and address plainly. Jacques Mfg. Co., Chicago.

DO THIS FIRST—YOU!

You know, and every physician knows, that when any sickness has passed, whether it be throat trouble, organic disturbances, contagious diseases, or even a severe cold, a relapse is feared, because sickness robs the system of Nature's resistance and leaves it subject to lingering germs.

Drugs never build up a worn-out body—only food can do that, and the first thing to take after any sickness is the concentrated, blood-making oil-food in Scott's Emulsion, which feeds the tissues, benefits the blood and strengthens both lungs and throat.

Physicians prescribe Scott's Emulsion after sickness. Nurses everywhere advocate it. Scott's is pure medicinal food, without alcohol or drugs.

DRIVES AWAY
HEADACHE

Rub Musterole on Forehead and Temples

A headache remedy without the dangers of "headache medicine." Relieves headache and that miserable feeling from cold or congestion. And it acts at once! MUSTEROLE is a clean, white ointment made with oil of mustard. Better than a mustard plaster and does not blister. Used only externally, and in no way can affect stomach and heart, as some internal medicines do.

Best for Sore Throat, Bronchitis, Croup, Stiff Neck, Asthma, Neuralgia, Congestion, Pleurisy, Rheumatism, Lumbago, all Pains and Aches of the Back or Joints, Sprains, Sore Muscles, Bruises, Chills, Frosted Feet, Colds of the Chest (it often prevents Pneumonia).

At your druggist's, in 25c and 50c jars, and a special large hospital size for $2.50. Be sure you get the genuine MUSTEROLE. Refuse imitations—get what you ask for. The Musterole Company, Cleveland, Ohio.

Maternity! The Word of Words

It is written into life's expectations that motherhood is the one sublime accomplishment. And if there is anything, no matter how simple, how apparently trivial it may seem, if it can aid, help, assist or in any way comfort the expectant mother, it is a blessing. And such is a remedy called "Mother's Friend."

You apply it over the stomach muscles. It is gently rubbed on the surface, and makes the muscles pliant; this relieves the strain on ligaments, natural expansion takes place without undue effect upon the nerves. And as the time approaches, the mind has gone through a period of repose, of gentle expectancy, and this has an unquestioned influence upon the future child. That this is true is evidenced by the fact that three generations of mothers have used and recommended "Mother's Friend." Ask your nearest druggist for a bottle of this splendid remedy. He will get it for you. And then write to Bradford Regulator Co., 407 Lamar Bldg., Atlanta, Ga., for a most interesting book of information to prospective mothers. It is mailed free. Write today. It is a book you will enjoy.

Kauff Gets Homer
DALLAS, Texas.—"You'll oblige me by referring to the box score," quoth Benny, the "Breezy." In it was written "home runs"—Kauff, one. He landed on one of Boehler's first ones for a home run, score—New York, 5; Detroit, 2. Cobb was not in the game.

Many Hits Help Dodgers
DAYTONA, Fla.—Eleven hits, most of them in the third inning, gave the Dodgers the game with Connie Mack's outfit, eight to nothing. No class was shown by the Athletics.

Yankees on Rampage
CHATTANOOGA, Tenn.—The embattled Yanks, flushed by their ten hit win over the Nashville Sluggers, are here today for two games. All the players are on the lookout for the axe.

Herzog Bags Homer
NEW ORLEANS, La.—Manager Herzog batted a homer and led his team to a 6 to 4 victory over the Indians but was put out of the game by the impire. The Indian hurler was touched for five hits in the sixth.

Scott Nicked
MINERAL WELLS, Texas.—Jim Scott practiced hitting the bull's eye with a baseball today. Jim was touched for thirteen safeties by the Houston Buffaloes yesterday because his curves wouldn't work. The Sox had to go twelve innings to win.

Cubs Worry—Many Muffs
TAMPA, Fla.—Cub players are worrying so much about their jobs that they are muffing the ball both at fielding and batting. Manager Tinker is worried, too. "Get some pep, boys. Forget about your job. We'll take you," Joe is telling the bunch.

EXPEL PRIESTS
SAN ANTONIO, Tex., March 27.—A telegram from Mexico City made public by the local Mexican consulate, states that the governor of Sonora has issued an order expelling all priests.

PUT STOMACH IN FINE CONDITION

Says Indigestion Results from an Excess of Hydrochloric Acid.

Undigested food delayed in the stomach decays, or rather, ferments the same as food left in the open air, says a noted authority. He also tells us that indigestion is caused by Hyper-acidity, meaning, there is an excess of hydrochloric acid in the stomach which prevents complete digestion and starts food fermentation. Thus everything eaten sours in the stomach much like garbage sours in a can, forming acid fluids and gases which inflate the stomach like a toy balloon. Then we feel a heavy, lumpy misery in the chest, we belch up gas, we eructate sour food or have heartburn, flatulence, water-brash or nausea.

He tells us to lay aside all digestive aids and instead, get from any pharmacy four ounces of Jad Salts and take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast and drink while it is effervescing and furthermore, to continue this for a week. While relief follows the first dose, it is important to neutralize the acidity, remove the gas-making mass, start the liver, stimulate the kidneys and thus promote a free flow of pure digestive juices.

Jad Salts is inexpensive and is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia and sodium phosphate. This harmless salts is used by thousands of people for stomach trouble with excellent results.

WILLARD REMAINS CHAMP AFTER A LIFELESS FIGHT

Jess Breaks Right Hand in Second and Blames That for Absence of a K. O.

SEVENTH IS GOOD ROUND

Willard Apparently Goes After Knockout But Moran Rallies; Many Openings

CHICAGO, March 27.—"Hurrah! I knew he would do it." This was Mrs. Jess Willard's comment Saturday night when informed by the United Press that Jess had won his battle with Frank Moran.

"Even if he did break his hand, that's all right. We can fix that easy."

NEW YORK, March 27.—Jess Willard, heavyweight champion who grabbed off the easiest $52,000 ever made in the prize ring when he whipped Frank Moran in ten rounds Saturday night may never fight again, according to Dave Lewisohn of Chicago, stakeholder in the big bout.

"I will not enter into any more bouts," said Willard according to Lewisohn.

"And why should he?" asked Lewisohn. "He is worth enough now to keep himself and his family for life. His show contracts now signed will almost double his wealth. He is a home-loving man, fond of his family and fond of quiet. I think that when his theatrical contracts are concluded he will make the announcement that he is through."

Tom Jones, Jess's manager, does not agree. He said Willard would be willing to give Moran a return match or to take on any other heavyweights for a suitable consideration. Frank Moran, showing but few signs of the pummeling he received, was about town today, chipper as a boy and wanting a twenty round bout with the champion.

"Willard was weakening toward the end," said Moran. "I feel sure that I could wear him down in a long bout."

Over 12,000 spectators, the largest crowd that ever saw an indoor pugilistic contest in New York state, witnessed the bout.

The champion's best fighting was done from the third round on, despite the fact that he broke his right hand during that period. A small bone on the back part of the hand was fractured when he shot a right smash to Moran's jaw. No one in the vast audience knew of Willard's mishap until the battle was over.

The bout was a surprise in as much as both men battled as hard as they could from gong to gong. Moran was the aggressor in all but two rounds and he frequently rushed the champion to the ropes. However his timing was poor and he exhibited but little boxing skill.

Willard landed three punches to every one for Moran, but the Pittsburgher seemed to have more power behind his wallop. Willard failed to show the wonderful boxing ability with which he has been credited and Moran had no trouble breaking through his guard.

The weights with both men weighing in in full ring costume were: Moran, 201½; Willard, 259½. The announcement of Willard's weight amazed the crowd, as it was presumed he would not display a greater poundage than 255 at the very most.

Receipts Total $175,000

"At the lowest the receipts will be $175,000," said Rickard. "The expenses so far as I am able to figure them out will not go beyond $110,000. That means McCrackin and I will clear between $60,000 and $70,000 on the fight."

Notables Present

Three former kings of the heavyweight division, John L. Sullivan, Bob Fitzsimmons and Jim Corbett were in the press box. Freddie Welsh, lightweight champion of the world; Willie Ritchie, lightweight champion of the United States; Johnny Kilbane, featherweight champion; Jack Dillon, light heavyweight crown wearer; Philadelphia Jack O'Brien and Kid McCoy, who ranked high in the heavyweight world in other days, also were present.

HOULIHAN REFEREE BURKE BREAKS HAND SOHR SUBSTITUTE

Walter Houlihan, Milwaukee, one of the best known referees in the Northwest, will officiate at the Thursday night fight of the Kannia A. C. in Yeomen hall, replacing Geo. Duffy of Milwaukee.

The change in officials was accounted for today by President Fred W. Harris with the assertion that the club wishes to try out all the referees of the state, not confining itself to one man.

Jack Burke, who was to have fought Hal Clark in the semi-windup, will not be here, he has advised the local promoters, having broken his
